MORE MONEY FOR OLD SOLDIERS

If Bill in Senate Becomes Law.

Will Increase Appropriation From Four Hundred and Fifty Thousand to Seven Hundred and Four Thousand Dollars Annually—Passes Second Reading Without Dissenting Voice—Other Bills.

Raleigh, Feb. 23.—In the Senate today at 12:30 o'clock the bill to amend the pension law of North Carolina increasing the pensions from $450,000 to $704,000 annually was taken up as a special order and after a debate lasting nearly two hours the bill passed second reading without a dissenting vote. An amendment of Senator London was adopted leaving the date of marriage 1868 instead of changing it to 1870 as provided by the bill. Senator Boyden made a strong argument for the bill and others who spoke were Senators Johnson, Bennett, Sigmon, McLaughlin, Graham, Ivie, Haymore, Baggett and Lemmond. Senator Bennett in his speech declared that the pension list should be revised and carefully purged. He was in favor of giving pensions to worthy soldiers, but believed fraud was being practiced in some instances. Senator Baggett offered an amendment authorizing the governor to appoint a pension board in each county to revise the pension list, but the senate voted it down.

The bill to increase the salary of the Superior court judges from $3,250 to $3,500 and allow them $1,000 a year for traveling expenses instead of $250, was reported favorably by the committee on salaries and fees, with a committee amendment to increase the salaries of the Supreme court justices from $3,500 to $4,500 payable monthly.

Senator Hobgood, who introduced the bill, made an earnest plea for its passage, arguing that it gives the judges simply fair treatment.

Senator Barnes objected to the passage of the bill until the bill to increase the number of judicial districts from sixteen to twenty is disposed of and he moved to defer action. Senator Sigmon hoped the motion to defer would prevail and he opposed raising salaries in general.

Senator Hobgood thought these two bills ought to be considered separately and independent of each other. Senator Long heartily endorsed the increase and others who spoke for the measure were Senators Barham, Carpenter, Cox, Davis, Lemmond, Hicks, Green, Hartell, Boyden, Ivie, Graham and McLaughlin. Senator Barnes withdrew his motion to defer action.

Senator Hicks offered an amendment naming the salary at $3,250 and allowing $750 for traveling expenses and naming the salary of the Supreme court justices at $4,000 instead of $4,500.

Senator Barnes offered an amendment fixing the expense allowance at $500, but this was lost and Senator Hicks' amendment prevailed by a vote of 24 to 19 and the bill as amended passed second and third readings and was sent to the House.

The House. Favorable reports from committees came out of order for the bill to increase the pay of the Supreme court reporter to $1,500 and the salaries of the Supreme court justices to $4,500. Also for the bill to safeguard the interest of the state in turnpikes and railroads. Procured through convict labor, the bill carrying an appropriation of $3,500.

The House at 1 o'clock took up the consideration of the revenue bill in committee of the whole. Section 65 imposing a tax of $10 on photograph enlarging agencies was stricken out as inoperative. Section 66 and 67 were stricken out as obsolete. Sections 68 as to insurance companies and 69 as to dealers in pistols were adopted without change.

Representative Williams, of Buncombe, procured the reduction of the tax on agents for pianos and organs from $100 to $50 with a proviso that will prevent duplicate licenses for agents.

Judge Ewart tried to get through amendments to section 71 as to cigarettes increasing the license tax of dealers graduated so that increase be from $250 to $500 minimum up to $2,500. Carr of Durham, Conner and others opposed this and the amendment was lost. The retail license tax was left at $5 and the section adopted. And an amendment to increase the tax on cigarette manufacturers was adopted making the tax $2,000, instead of $1,000, the vote being 36 to 25.

Sections 72, 74, 77, 73, 79, 80, 81 and 84 and on to 95 were adopted without change. Section 75 was amended so as to exempt ex-Confederate soldiers from license taxes for peddling eye glasses. An amendment by Battle to section 85 allows cities and towns to collect telephone tax. The committee of the whole arose and reported to the House completion of the bill and it passed third reading and ordered sent to the Senate.

REVIVAL BEGINS.

Large Congregation Attended Services At Christian Church Last Night—Mr. Butler Sings at Each Service.

A series of evangelistic services began at the Christian church, corner Walker avenue and Eugene street, last night, the pastor, Rev. L. E. Smith, preaching to a large congregation. Mr. Charles Butler and wife arrived last evening at 6 o'clock from Asbury Park, N. J., and assisted in the singing last night. Mr. Butler sang two solos and he also had charge of the music.

Rev. Mr. Smith preached an appropriate and able sermon from the text Psalms 85:6, his subject being a "Plea for Power." The interest taken by the church membership was most encouraging and it is believed that the revival will be a most helpful one not only for the church, but for the entire city.

Tonight Rev. Mr. Smith will preach on "The Stirred Spirit," Acts 16:17. The services will begin at 7:30 o'clock and Mr. Butler will have charge of the song service, which precedes the sermon. Mr. Butler has a splendid baritone voice and his singing greatly pleased the congregation last night, the singer by pouring out his soul in song making the song service one of spiritual uplift. The public is extended a cordial invitation to attend all services.

After arriving last night Mr. Butler received telegrams asking him to come to other cities to sing. One was from Dr. Len G. Broughton, of Atlanta, asking the singer if he could be in Atlanta for twenty days during the month of March.

Mrs. McNairy Entertains the Wednesday Afternoon Social Club.

The Wednesday Afternoon Social Club was entertained this week by Mrs. E. W. McNairy at her home on Arlington street. The house was decorated with pictures of George Washington and other patriotic emblems, and the game of "Forty-Two" was played. The refreshments consisted of a salad course, sandwiches and coffee. Those present for this very delightful afternoon's entertainment were Mrs. A. H. Adams, Mrs. J. A. Sterne, Mrs. Bates and Mrs. Cook, of Baltimore, Mrs. Walter Robinson, Mrs. Fred Sparger, Mrs. Dr. J. H. Boyles, Mrs. S. N. Peters, Mrs. C. W. Stockard, Mrs. T. A. Glascock, Miss Marguerite Halladay.

It is a question whether it is worse to do things without thinking, or to think things without doing.

RONEY'S BOYS CHARM AUDIENCE

Rendered Highly Enjoyable Program At Smith Memorial Building Last Evening—Every Number Superbly Given by Boys—Mr. Roney Entertaining.

Well might that remarkable juvenile organization, "Roney's Boys," be called "The Five Wonders of Boydom," for surely no audience that ever gathered to enjoy the unique and splendid entertainment provided by these five boys ever failed to be enraptured and charmed by the marvelous power and unusual talent of "Roney's Boys."

Last night at the Smith Memorial building one of the largest audiences that ever attended a lecture course number here grew most enthusiastic over the program rendered by the celebrated organization. It was great. It was "something different." It was refreshing. It was inspiring.

Not as some people imagine, the programs rendered by the boys are not made up of simple and light pieces. Nearly every regular number is a classic, every one notable for its beauty and sweetness but difficult in its rendition and nature. Yet every number was superbly given by the boys and the response usually consisted of popular and humorous selections. There was not a poor number. There was not a dull moment.

The fact that the boys change costume four or five times during the evening adds greatly to the success of the program. They appeared in military costumes, in cotta and cossack, in Mexican costumes, in the jaunty white flannels of the sailor boys and lastly in the Highland Scottish costumes. The Highland costumes were historically correct and each boy wore the costume of a famous Scottish clan, and with the explanation by Mr. Roney this feature was made intensely interesting and instructive.

Of course the chorus work of the boys was marvelous. Each has a magnificent voice. They sing with ease, correctness, and a beauty that is enchanting. There is no evidence of a strain on any of the voices, yet not one of the boys is over fourteen years of age.

Mr. Roney, the originator, trainer and manager of "Roney's Boys," made a most interesting and entertaining talk while the boys were donning their Highland costumes, as to the way the boys spend their time on the road, the manner in which he selects the members of the company, and as to many other phases of the organization, customs and life of this famous organization which has for twenty years proven one of the most popular attractions on the lyceum courses of America.

Mr. Roney is himself a pianist of brilliant ability and he plays the accompaniment for the boys. He has a remarkable touch of the keys that mark him as a really great pianist.

The piano used for the concert was loaned by the Cable Piano Company.

The next and final attraction of the Lyceum course will be given on March 9, when the Chicago Glee Club will be here.

VERDICT FOR PLAINTIFF.

Jas. A. Zachary Gets Damages to Amount of Two Thousand Dollars—Wanted More.

In Superior court yesterday morning the jury in the case of Jas. A. Zachary, admr. H. H. Burgess, vs. North Carolina Railroad Company returned a verdict awarding the plaintiff $2,000 damages. The suit was to recover damages to the amount of $25,000 because of the death of Burgess while in the employ of the defendant.

All of the day was taken up in the trial of the case of Lelia A. Patterson by her next friend, Roxie A. Patterson, vs. Greensboro Loan & Trust Co., administrator of Wm. Collins, deceased. The suit is to recover $1,050 held in trust by the administrator. The evidence was concluded yesterday afternoon and the argument commenced. The case will go to the jury sometime this morning. This will be the last jury trial for the term.

Districts Meeting K. of P.

A district meeting of the Knights of Pythias of the seventh district will be held at Proximity on Tuesday evening, March 7. There are fourteen lodges in this district, of which Mr. Whit R. Stone is district deputy grand chancellor. The Proximity Pythians are arranging an elaborate program for the meeting, which will end with a banquet at which Mr. J. J. Phoenix will act as toastmaster.

ALLISON MUST PAY PENALTY

Governor Refuses to Commute Sentence.

Asheville Murderer Scheduled to Die in Electric Chair This Morning—Discharged Employee Works Havoc in Marble Yard With Chisel—Will Answer Crime in Court—Charters Issued.

Raleigh, Feb. 23.—After a long conference between a son of the condemned man from Asheville and the governor, the statement was made by Gov. Kitchin this morning that he is still unable to discover any reason why he should interfere with the execution of the death sentence in the case of J. B. Allison, of Asheville, under sentence to die in the electric chair at the state's prison here tomorrow for the murder of a man named McGee. The electrocution is to take place at 10:30 tomorrow morning.

W. K. Upchurch, a discharged employee, has been arrested on the charge of having committed the $2,000 and more of vandalism in the marble works of the Coopers, of Raleigh, Wednesday morning before day when, with chisel and mallet some one broke up statuary and scrawled on the stones and the walls vulgar sentences and expressions of revenge, addressed principally at George W. Cooper, junior member of the firm of Cooper Bros. The vandal injured his hand while at work and got blood on many of the stones and pieces of statuary he injured. Upchurch was found to have an injured hand for which he has not accounted.

Capt. W. H. Peels, of the United States Coast Artillery, spent the day here inspecting the military supplies of the North Carolina Guard in the arsenal here. He will go to Camp Glenn tomorrow to inspect the camp and property there. This inspection is of semi-annual recurrence.

A charter was issued for the National Wood Distilling Co., of Wilmington, capital $100,000, by N. H. Chase, Thomas W. Pritchard, A. F. MacRae and others. There is also a charter for the Wachovia Mutual Life Insurance Co., Winston-Salem, incorporators O. L. Whitman, R. L. Money and others.

WILL RECEIVE BANNER.

Rockingham County Democracy Will Be Presented With Trophy on Monday.

Reidsville Review: During the noon recess Monday the Rockingham County Democracy will assemble in the county court house at Wentworth to receive the banner presented to the county on securing the largest increase in the Democratic vote of any in the Fifth district.

Chairman A. Wayland Cooke, who managed the campaign in the Fifth district, will make the presentation speech. Other Democrats throughout the district, it is certain, will attend. Chairman Young desires the entire county Democracy to be present on this occasion. He is particularly anxious for every precinct committeeman to attend.

It has been planned by Chairman Young to have a number of short speeches by local Democrats following that of Chairman Cooke. Solicitor S. P. Graves will follow Chairman Cooke, and local attorneys, committeemen and citizens generally will be called upon to submit a few remarks appropriate to the occasion.

The Review is requested by Chairman Young to invite every Democrat in the county who possibly can be present on Monday.

Doyle on Lookout.

Manager Doyle has written President Brandt, of the local baseball club, that he is now in Cincinnati looking over some material for a tryout. He writes that he will not have so many men here at first so he can give each man ample opportunity to show his hand. He has already secured a catcher and short stop, both of whom are promising young players. Mr. Doyle will be here in three or four days and his men will begin arriving about the last of March.

U. S. Commissioner.

Judge Jas. E. Boyd yesterday appointed Robert W. Logan, of Rutherfordton, United States commissioner for Rutherford county.

THE TELEGRAM SOLD

Mr. J. T. Fain, the New Owner, Arrived Last Night From Anniston, Ala., His Former Home.

Mr. J. T. Fain arrived in the city last night and has become a resident of Greensboro.

For several years past Mr. Fain has been living at Anniston, Alabama. He comes to Greensboro to take charge of The Telegram, having closed two weeks ago a deal by which he becomes the owner of the paper after Feb. 28.

He is a native of Tennessee and has been engaged in the printing and publishing business in that State and in Georgia and Alabama for eighteen years. Having worked in every department of the newspaper business, he is well equipped to manage The Telegram with success.

On selling out a paper which he conducted with marked ability in Anniston he began to look around for a new field. He made several trips to Greensboro and investigated newspaper properties in other towns, some of them larger than Greensboro. He selected this town because he liked it and because the newspaper field here looked inviting.

He comes with the very best of recommendations as to business qualifications and personal integrity, so that his coming here is a distinct gain for the city. His wife and three children are here with him and it is the intention of the family to go to housekeeping as soon as a suitable house can be secured.

The Anniston Evening Star says:

"J. T. Fain, former owner and editor of The Evening Star, has bought The Telegram, a morning paper of Greensboro, N. C., and will take charge the first of March."

"The Telegram is a well established paper in the city of Greensboro of about fifteen years' standing, and is regarded as good newspaper property. The city of Greensboro has a population of about 30,000 people and is a live town in every respect, presenting an inviting field for business to the enterprising man."

"Mr. Fain is an energetic newspaper man of ripe experience. From boyhood he has been engaged actively in newspaper work and has always made a success of it. He knows the business thoroughly and has the energy necessary to push it along. He came to Anniston three years ago and bought The Evening Star, which he conducted with consummate skill and ability. Since selling The Star property to James B. Lloyd a few months ago he has canvassed the field of newspaper properties and selected The Telegram."

"The people of Anniston sincerely regret that Mr. Fain is to leave the city, but since it is to be so, they heartily commend him to the public of his new home as a man capable, clean and honest, and wish for him the success he will earn in his chosen field of operation."

Card of Thanks.

All the members of the Woman's Betterment Association at McIver school take this method of expressing their thanks to the young ladies and gentlemen who contributed the good music for us, also especially desire to thank Mr. Ernest Anderson and Mr. Arthur Brim for the play, Damon & Pythias. These gentlemen deserve great credit, and their help was highly appreciated. We extend many thanks to Mr. Brown for auctioneering our goods, and the public in general for responding so liberally. The conduct of the audience was the best. We realized $30.56, which more than paid our debt on piano. Each vote this the best February 22 we have yet seen.

Mrs. Thos. D. Hardin, President; Mrs. J. C. Anderson, Vice President; Miss Ida Koehler, Secretary.

A Bill in Equity.

In United States court yesterday morning a bill in equity was filed by the Wachovia Bank & Trust Co., trustee, against the Haddock-France Lumber Co. The trustee holds a deed of trust on certain properties to cover an indebtedness of $82,000 and states that the defendant is cutting away the timber from the land and thereby decreasing the value of the property. An order was issued citing the defendant to appear on March 11 and show cause why it should not be enjoined from cutting and removing the timber from the property.

Escape From Roads.

John Rich and Tom Galloway, two negroes, escaped yesterday morning from the convict camp of Supt. Tyson. The negroes were "trusty" cooks and when they got up to prepare breakfast before the remainder of the gang was aroused they made for the tall timber and have not yet been seen. Their sentences would have expired in a few days had they remained at their posts.

SEED CORN DAY AT THE A. & M.

Mr. Hudson Tells How to Judge Corn.

He Also Made Practical Address Before Negro Farmers On Preparation of Soil, Cultivation, Etc.—Several Other Speakers Tell of Corn Growing—Hampton Institute Representative Compliments College On Its Work.

Yesterday was "Seed Corn Day" at the A. & M. College, the program in charge of Mr. C. R. Hudson, state agent for the farmers' co-operative demonstration work, Bureau of Plant Industry, Washington, D. C.

The program was opened by a lecture on the feeding of live stock by Prof. Conover who has been giving a series of lectures on dairying all the week. He was followed by Mr. Hudson who spoke of the preparation of the soil, the adding of vegetable matter in the form of barnyard manure and cover crops, the cultivation of the crop and the selection of seed. Three practical farmers spoke along the same line, two white and one colored.

Prof. Sherman, state entomologist, then spoke on the insects which destroy corn, giving especial attention to the bud and cut worms. He said the only sure remedy for these insects was to plant corn late. He was followed by Prof. C. K. Graham, of Hampton Institute, who conveyed to the college greetings from Hampton and spoke of the high type of colored farmers present at the institute. He spoke in the highest terms of the work of the college and said it is reaching a higher type of farmers than they are reaching in Virginia.

The afternoon session was opened by a lecture on the fertilizers and the management of soils by Prof. Burgess, state agronomist. He laid great stress on the value of green manuring and said that a crop of rye turned under had nearly as much fertilizer as a dressing of barnyard manure, top for ton.

Following Prof. Burgess, Prof. Conover spoke on the selection of seed corn after which Mr. Hudson has each farmer supplied with a number of ears of corn and had them judge it by score card. He thus taught the farmers how to actually judge an ear of corn. Mr. Long, a former trustee of the college, and now in charge of the farmers' co-operative demonstration work in Virginia and North Carolina, was also present and gave a very practical talk.

Today lectures will be given by Prof. Conover, state dairyman; Prof. Sherman, state entomologist, and Dr. Stedman, of the U. S. department of agriculture.

Mr. Henry Vanstorty Weds.

Mr. C. M. Vanstorty returned last night from Lincolnton where he attended the wedding of his nephew, Mr. Henry L. Vanstorty. Yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock in the Presbyterian church at Lincolnton Mr. Vanstorty was married to Miss Lola K. Presley, daughter of Rev. Dr. Presley, the ceremony being performed by Dr. Manning, the pastor. Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Vanstorty left on a trip to Atlanta. On their return they will reside at Connelly Springs, where Mr. Vanstorty is manager of the Connelly Springs Mineral hotel. The groom is well known in Greensboro.

Another Victim, Maybe.

A telephone message late yesterday afternoon from the sheriff of Yadkin county was to the effect that the Gregory boy who was seriously wounded by Moses Speaks while trying to arrest him was in a critical condition and there was but little hope for his recovery. The other boy is reported as getting along nicely. Speaks when informed of the condition of the Yadkin boy merely stated that he only got his just desert. He has not yet employed counsel, none of the attorneys caring to have charge of his case, unless appointed by the court.

A Rockingham Murder.

A message was received yesterday from the Rockingham authorities, stating that a negro workman had killed a companion near Spray. The name of the murderer or the murdered was not given, the officers merely getting a description of the man-killer.

SENATE'S STRONG MAN.

Borah, Full Name William Edgar, Who Stands Abreast of La Follette.
Alfred Henry Lewis, in New York American.

His name, as set forth in his seven-line notice printed in the Congressional Directory, is William Edgar Borah. In politics a Republican, as a stark insurgent he stands abreast of Senator La Follette.

Broad, self-centered as the Pyramids, of positive dignity, with a genius for the taciturn, Mr. Borah gives forth a mixed impression of integrity and stubbornness. When he made his appearance in the Senate those whom his plain honesty attracted were repelled by that rock-rooted manner. They held aloof, waiting for him to develop before deciding concerning him. Not that he seemed to be hurt by this aloofness. Possibly he didn't remark it, or—remarking it—didn't care. In any case, he came and went Senatorially with the undisturbed air of one who is secure of his mission in history, certain of his place in events. He courted no man's favor, sought no man's indorsement, but seemed in all things a tub content to stand on its own bottom.

As time went on men noted Mr. Borah's stubborn wordlessness less, his virtues of brains and courage and combativeness more, and many of the warlike ones began to feel a fondness for him.

Mr. Borah drew upon himself a landslide of admiration when one day he burst upon the Senate with an oration—brief, brilliant, convincing—which would have done credit to a Sheridan, conferred glory on a Pitt. It was doubly impressive because wholly unlooked for. That he should unbelt in flaming period and phrase of fire—he, the iron-bound and self-contained—was as though some volcano, supposedly extinct, had turned suddenly active. That speech gave him a vogue, and in a way established him as the leader of the young and more aggressive among the Republicans of the West.

That modesty, observable when Mr. Borah prepares his "life and deeds" for the Congressional Directory, goes with him into every fence corner of affairs. He has the Western spirit, and is unaffectedly democratic. He meets folk as one who, respecting himself, also respects them. He does not wear the manner of one who expects to find his inferior. Still less would he remind you of one who fears he may meet his superior. And that quality of the point blank is ever felt when he makes a speech. There are two ways of talking to people, as I've told you before. In one, the orator keeps himself on the level of his audience; in the other, he climbs upon a pedestal and patronizes his hearers by talking down hill. Mr. Borah is not a pedestal talker. He is a prey to none of that innate muggumperty of soul which inclines its possessor to name himself unhesitatingly as teacher to a world.

Modest, firm, with a cause to push Mr. Borah understands the message wherewith his people of Idaho invested him when they sent him to the Senate. And he intends to deliver it. When an Aldrich-guided Republicanism lied tariff-wise to the people, breaking personal promise as well as platform pledge, Mr. Borah announced himself as in rebellion, and became an insurgent. And his State of Idaho applauded. Such action was and is a sign of popular hope. The day of special privilege, with its Cannons and the Aldriches, is passing; that of common rights, with its Borahs and its La Follettes, is at hand.

Ransomed.

By JANE PINCKNEY BENNET

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

Shortly before the war between the United States and Mexico Captain Julian Watriss of the United States army met at New Orleans and married Concha Herrera, a young Mexican widow who owned a large hacienda in the latter country. Senora Watriss was a very patriotic Mexican and upon the breaking out of the war went home to do what she could to serve her country. Captain Watriss sailed with his regiment for Vera Cruz and was with that army that made its way, fighting battles as it proceeded, from the gulf coast to the City of Mexico.

Senora Watriss, being very rich, organized a company of rangers at her own expense. Several commanders of this force were tried and failed. At last the troop called upon the lady to take command herself. She consented, went into the field, and under her leadership the men who followed her made quite a reputation as partisan rangers. They were not enrolled in the Mexican army, and since they were very troublesome to the United States forces, the general commanding gave orders that when captured they should be shot. Several of them were taken from time to time, every one of whom was executed. In retaliation Senora Watriss gave orders that from the next lot of prisoners taken by her men five should be selected by lot for execution.

Not long after this order the rangers made a night attack on an outpost of the American army and captured a captain, a lieutenant and thirty men. The senora was not present on this occasion, having intrusted the attack to a junior officer. The first she knew of the capture was the announcement to her while in her tent that five men selected to be shot were outside, the officer in charge of them awaiting a special order to shoot them. The lady threw back her tent flap for a look at the doomed men.

Among them was her husband!

What to do she did not know. To claim immunity for the man she loved would be to destroy her influence with her troops. They were all very bitter against the Americans for the execution of their comrades and were rejoiced that an officer was to be shot in retaliation. The only thing that occurred to her was delay. By staying off the execution she might find some means of saving her husband.

"Take them back to the guard tent," she said. "I am too busy now to attend to the matter."

"But, senora," protested the officer in charge, "all we wish is the order—'Take them away,' interrupted the senora impatiently. 'I am not accustomed to receive suggestions from my inferiors.'"

The prisoners were marched off without Captain Watriss knowing that his wife had for the time being saved his life. Senora Watriss shut herself up in her tent, endeavoring to think out some plan to prevent the execution. No one suspected the relationship between her and Captain Watriss, and she did not wish it to be known. It might throw distrust upon her without saving her husband.

During the evening she gave an order—she dared not refuse one—that the prisoners should be shot at 8 o'clock the next morning. At 10 o'clock that night she went the rounds to see that the guards were on post and the others asleep. Then, instead of returning to her tent, she mounted her horse, that she had picketed without the line of sentries, and unseen rode away. An hour later she was taken in by an officer of an American picket post to the tent of the commanding general. After an interview of half an hour she departed, returned to her camp and stole into her tent without any one of her command knowing that she had been away.

Between dawn and sunrise an orderly came to her to say that an officer commanding a flag of truce from the American camp desired to see her. She directed that he be admitted, and he said:

"Senora, our general, understanding that a captain and four privates belonging to his army are to be shot this morning, has sent me to say that if this is done he would make it his business to capture this command and hang every member of it, including yourself. If, however, these prisoners are surrendered to him a ransom of $1,000 for each private and $5,000 for the officer will be distributed to your command."

Senora Watriss called her men together and stated the proposition. The threat at first produced a contrary effect from what was intended, but when the ransom was considered with it a change of opinion was effected. Senora Watriss watched for an opportune moment when to put the question to vote. It was almost unanimously decided to accept the ransom.

A Mexican officer and ten men were sent back with the flag of truce and all the prisoners, but it required several days to secure the ransom, during which all overt acts were suspended. Finally it arrived and was paid over, the prisoners were delivered to their commander, and the Mexicans returned to camp.

Not a man in the command knew that the senora had ransomed the prisoners.

A few days later the woman commander gave up the command of the troops and went to the City of Mexico, where after the capture of the capital she met her husband.

North Carolina has 100 counties now. That is the correct number to stop at if we are to be a hundred-point State.

The bill asking for a commission form of government for Raleigh has been introduced in the Legislature. There are people in Raleigh who believe in progress, and we shall soon see how the number compares with that of Greensboro.

In what we have said with reference to the proposed reformatory for colored youth, we were inadvertent to the fact that some worthy Greensboro negroes are behind a movement for such an institution. We recall, now that our attention has been called to it, the mass meeting that was held here in behalf of the fund started by Nannie Foulkes, now a colored servant in the household of Mr. W. W. Fuller in New York city but formerly a resident of Greensboro; and it is our conviction that the movement at the foundation of which is her generous offer of what amounts to $800 or $1000 is the one which the State should encourage.

The Benefactors' Number of the Wake Forest Student is one of the handsomest magazines that have come to this office in many a day. It is printed on heavy white paper of fine quality, and the cover is a beauty. The articles are mainly biographical and historical and tell of those who have had to do with making the college what it is today, and of the changes that have been made since the founding of the institution in 1832 as Wake Forest Institute. There are half-tone cuts of the different buildings and of the large and picturesque campus—easily one of the finest, in many respects, to be found in the country. Much credit is due to those who had the work in hand of collecting and collating the data and articles for so handsome and illuminating a number of the Student.

It is a great hardship to many parents to be called upon every school term to buy new school books for their children, simply because a superintendent has concluded that he likes another text better than that previously in use or because the child who may have moved from another community has not the "right" books. State Superintendent Joyner has favored a law requiring uniformity in school texts and most of the school superintendents of the State are in accord with his views. By passing a uniform law the Legislature will save the school patrons of the State a needless waste of money, and will prevent much loss of time on the part of "new pupils" by reason of their being forced to abandon books they have been studying for new ones that they know nothing about.

The Raleigh Times is fearful that some serious accident may happen to the children who skate on the sidewalks. The other day some children were coasting down hill in the middle of a Greensboro street. They were asked if they had not better remain on the sidewalk, and the reply was that the policeman would get them. Now, we do not know what the Greensboro law is, but the sidewalk is a much safer place for children than the street. We have never heard of any serious mishap in the way of loss of life or limb to children who skated on the pavement, but we know that thousands die annually for want of fresh air and exercise. This writer will always give the children right of way on the sidewalk, and other places are provided for them. Of course, they should be prevented from hanging on to wagons and street cars, but these vehicles do not run on the sidewalks. The children must have a place to play.

THE CASE OF LORIMER.

Wednesday in the United States Senate Senator-elect Lorimer, of Illinois, spoke for four hours in defense of himself in the pending matter of an endeavor to have his seat declared vacant because of alleged corruption in his election. Lorimer went over the ground thoroughly, giving his side of every objection made against him and explaining just why the charges were preferred. Throughout the duration of his lengthy argument it is said that none seemed to weary and that some were even moved to sympathetic tears.

It has been very well settled that tainted ballots were necessary to insure his election, but there are those who aver, with perhaps much truth, that Lorimer himself was not responsible for any alleged corruption. Others say, and with justice and reason, that the matter is not one of imputing personal motives or of stigmatizing personal character; that the question is one affecting the welfare and honor of the republic.

There is no question but that the latter argument is the one of real weight and serious concern. If the time is come when a man may sit in our highest and most dignified body of lawmakers as a representative known to have attained his position by reason of bribery and vicious methods in the electorate, there is no reckoning of the extent of the influence of such practices nor of the demoralization that may come to a citizenship in a State where such an election results, to say nothing of the danger that may ultimately accrue to our laws and political institutions.

No one knows what the result will be, but it is the general belief in Washington that Lorimer will retain his seat. He is said to be a man of personal purity, a dramatic and unique speaker; and, as has before been remarked in this column, it is not easy to down a present personality, especially one such as is possessed by Lorimer.

Little Pitchers.

In a certain small town there are two young women whose favorite occupation has been to discuss the affairs of their neighbors. Having met for that purpose one afternoon, they found themselves blocked in the indulgence of their pastime by the presence of the small daughter of the hostess. A slight indisposition of some sort prevented sending the child out of doors, so they were forced to put up with her presence, doing their best, however, to nullify it.

Something eatable was produced and an absorbing new game invented which she could play quite by herself, so they breathed freely and began. The talk at length reached a point involving the latest scandal of the neighborhood and the retelling of some inside information which must not become public property. A hurried look at the child on the floor found her apparently so occupied with her game that it seemed quite safe to go on if one observed a decent discretion. Voices were accordingly lowered and direct allusion veiled, but when the matter had been thrashed out to their satisfaction the child raised her eyes and remarked with deliberation and emphasis: "I hear, I know, I understand, and I'll blab!"—New York Times.

A Dog's Tongue.

Have you ever wanted to know why a dog's tongue lolls out of his mouth on a hot day or when he has been running? People sometimes say that it is because he is thirsty, but that isn't exactly right. If you look at it you will see little drops of water dripping from it. Well, you know that when you get very warm you get covered with perspiration. The dog's body never perspires. When he gets hot all the moisture comes out through his tongue, and as the moisture on the tongue dries up the dog's body cools.—Philadelphia Press.

How He Took It.

"In training," said an instructor in athletics, "the strictest obedience is required. Whenever I think of the theory of training I think of Dash, who, after eighteen years of married life, is one of the best and happiest husbands in the world. 'Dash,' I once said to him, 'well, Dash, old man, how do you take married life?' 'According to directions,' he replied."

The Sixth Sense.

In a primary school examination over which I once had the pleasure to preside one of the questions was with regard to the five senses. One of the bright pupils handled the subject thus: "The five senses are sneezing, sobbing, crying, yawning and coughing. By the sixth sense is meant an extra one which some folks have. This is snoring."—Woman's Home Companion.

HUMBIRD DUFFEY
Tenor.

The tenor soloist to appear with the Metropolitan Concert Co. at the Normal College on February 24 is Duffey, who bears the proud distinction of having reached a most enviable position among the few great concert tenors of the present day. He has a sympathetic and expensive voice which he uses with fine dramatic effect. Mr. Duffey recently sang the tenor part in Lazarus, an oratorio by Julian Edwards, at the Sunday night concert at the Metropolitan Opera House, New York city. Of this appearance the Evening Mail says: "Mr. Duffey's success is not to be doubted. He has a voice that is rich, full and satisfying, and is an acquisition to the small circle of great tenor singers."

Last fall in Cincinnati Mr. Duffey created the chief tenor role in Pietro Florida opera of Paoletta. Among the other singers in the cast of this beautiful composition were David Bispham, Mad. Bernice de Pasquali, and Edna Blanche Showalter. The opera had a record run of over thirty performances and Mr. Duffey's singing and acting created a deep impression.

TOWNSHIP OUGHT NOT TO BE UNIT

Prof. Holt Fears Mistake Is Being Made by Proposed Amendments to County Road Law—Does Not Believe the People Would Vote Road Tax.

Editor of The Telegram:

Of course I was not looking for a controversy when I gave expression to some views which appeared in Tuesday's Telegram; least of all with my good friend Mr. Boren. Permit me to say that I have the utmost confidence in the Board of County Commissioners. And at the same time I believe that our Board of Highway Commissioners performed their work in as satisfactory a manner and as cheaply as any other set of possible Highway Commissioners selected from this county could have done. When it is remembered that all this work had to be done by men without prior experience in road building, it is remarkable that our roads are built so well, and that there has been so little friction about it all.

I was just a little disappointed and I am sure others felt the same way. Not so much because of what was done last Saturday, but because everything was left so indefinite.

I understand that all the information which I asked for, both at the meeting and in my letter, was ready and could have been furnished at the meeting last Saturday, and indeed was expected to be called for. I agree with Mr. Boren that we were well repaid by the speech and work of Mr. Spoon, but I am sure that most of those who were present did not understand that his speech was the sole object of the gathering.

While it is of no present consequence, I do not think that citizens of Guilford should be referred to the books for information. Information of a public nature ought to be furnished from time to time by the auditor for the general enlightenment of the public. There are very few of us who could go to the books and get any satisfactory information on any particular subject. It costs immense time and considerable money to do this unless one has been a public officer and is initiated. I say this merely in passing.

I fear a mistake is about to be made in amending our laws so that townships may vote taxes upon themselves to keep their roads in repair. In the first place, I know of no such term as "township roads." I have been accustomed all my life to hear the term "county roads" used. This would be a departure from our established method of raising money for road purposes. Of course I understand that this tax is to be used wholly for repair work in lieu of "warning-out hands," and on its face it is plausible enough. Reference was made last Saturday to this tax as following the plan of local school taxation. The interests are by no means parallel. Roads do not stop at township lines. The township ought not to be made the unit. Let us take, for instance, some township which has had no benefit from the $300,000.00 bond issue; not having a single rod of macadam road within its borders. These people have been taxed up to date and will continue to be taxed for thirty years from the date the bonds were issued to pay the interest on the same, and to establish a sinking fund. They will naturally feel that they ought not now to be asked to double, their road tax, in order that they may help themselves. It will be impossible to get any of such townships to vote a special tax. And I seriously doubt whether it will be possible to persuade the majority of the voters of any township to lay this tax. The roads will have to be pretty bad before it will be done. If our sinking fund, or such an increase of it as might be possible under our present road rate, can be shown to be sufficient to take care of the bond issue at the expiration of the thirty years, so that this will not be a burden either upon ourselves or posterity, it does seem to me that, if we need more money, by all odds the best way to raise it will be to increase the bond issue to a half million dollars.

As no action was taken last Saturday with a view to this, it is manifestly too late now. And the best thing for us is to go on as we have been doing the last year—building such roads as we can with the $40,000.00 or $50,000.00 which we will have annually for that purpose, as I have been informed by the county auditor, for the next two years. By that time we shall be in position to know what is best and will not have complicated matters by a new set of laws, with complicated legal machinery which perhaps will not work, or will have nothing to work with.

Finally, I believe in the principle of commission government, in matters of this kind, with one man who knows his business at the head, with power to direct, being held responsible for results.

Respectfully,
J. ALLEN HOLT.

LIKE FINDING MONEY.

Howard Gardner Offers Popular Medicine at Half Price.

Howard Gardner, the popular druggist is making an offer that is just like finding money for he is selling a regular 50 cent bottle of Dr. Howard's celebrated specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half price. In addition to this large discount he agrees to return the money to any purchaser whom the specific does not cure.

It is quite unusual to be able to buy fifty cent pieces for a quarter, but that is what this offer really means, for it is only recently through the solicitation of Druggist Gardner that this medicine could be bought for less than fifty cents. He urged the proprietors to let him sell it at this reduced price for a little while, agreeing to sell a certain amount. The result has justified his good judgment for the sale has been something remarkable.

Anyone who suffers with headache, dyspepsia, dizziness, sour stomach, specks before the eyes, or any liver trouble, should take advantage of this opportunity, for Dr. Howard's specific will cure all these troubles. But if by any chance it should not, Howard Gardner will return your money.

First Evangelical Lutheran Church Building, Greensboro, N. C.

Sealed proposals will be received at the home of Rev. J. E. Shenk, pastor, 416 West Washington street, Greensboro, N. C., for a reasonable length of time, for the erection and completion of a new Evangelical Lutheran church building to be erected at Greensboro, in accordance with plans and specifications, copies which may be had at the home of Rev. J. E. Shenk. The building committee of the First Lutheran church reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

"A shoe may fit a lady's head
And likewise fit her purse,
But if her foot's not suited
Her condition's growing worse.
There's many a female woman
Who would otherwise be sweet,
Who goes through life a-grouching
'Cause her shoes don't fit her feet."
There's more truth than poetry in the above. It's out of the question for a woman to look pleasant and be happy when her feet are "just near about killing her." "But if her foot's not suited" it is because she has not given us a chance to fit it. We have so many different shapes and styles of women's shoes and slippers in stock now that we can fit any foot that's not actually deformed, and we carry all sizes from number one up to number nine in women's footwear. Now, don't imagine that you are obliged to wear "old ladies' comforts" in order to have your feet feel good. We can fit you in easy wearing, comfortable shoes or slippers that at the same time are neat and stylish.

If you have had trouble with your feet or your shoes—try this store next time. We can do you good.
LADIES, here's another shoe bargain for you. We have twenty pairs of $3.50 La France Patent Bluchers and laced shoes carried over from last season to close out at only $2.25, sizes 2, 2 1-2, 3, 3 1-2, 4, 4 1-2 and 5. If your size is in this lot it will pay you to see them. Thacker & Brockmann.

YOU MAY BE SURE THAT
The prices we charge you are the same we charge to all.
We obtain the best value merchandise the market offers.
We buy at as low a figure as the best of advantages make possible.
We are satisfied with as small a margin of profit as we ought to be.
We are making every legitimate effort to increase and improve our business.

You take no risks whatever when you buy at this store. We handle only reliable merchandise, and if you are not pleased with your purchases, we will return your money just as cheerfully as we received it. Our new spring lines of dry goods, shoes and slippers, carpets, rugs and matings are nearly complete now, and you are cordially invited to come and see them.

THACKER & BROCKMANN.
Are you an economical man? Here is where you can save a dollar on your next pair of shoes. We have forty pairs of $4.00 Bostonian shoes to be sold at $3.00, and twenty-five pairs of $3.50 Bostonian shoes to be sold at $2.50. These are patent colt and gun metal shoes, carried over from last season, but just as good for wear as if fresh from the factory. All sizes from 5 1-2 to 11. Are you interested? Thacker & Brockmann.

Is it the High Cost of Living or the Cost of High Living Which Keeps You Hard Up?

This is a question which is of vital importance to you---man or woman. A higher civilization has brought with it increased needs, but our increased earning power has put the things necessary to our comfort and well being within easy reach of us. Then why all of this talk about the high cost of living? Then why do men who earn three times as much as their fathers ever earned find it hard to live within their means? High living---absurd and unnecessary expenditures. This is the answer and there is no denying the correctness of this conclusion.

The "Average Man's" Money and What He Does With It.

We are not interested in what the millionaire does with his money. If he wants to go to his place of business in an airship, although it would be more pleasant, healthier and safer to walk, we are willing for him to have his airship, but the "Average man," the man with an average income, has needs for his money, and we want to see him get his money's worth. But does he? Does he get full value for the money expended on himself and family? Let's consider for example the "Average man"---the head of a family of six with an income---say $3,000 a year. What are his expenses?

His Shoe Bill for Himself and Family is $77.50 Did He Get His Money's Worth? If Not, Why Not?

His shoes, three pairs, cost him $18.00, his wife buys three pairs at a cost of $12.00, his grown up daughter, who is not extravagant, buys four pairs of shoes and slippers for $20.00, while his son of fourteen makes out with three pairs, which cost father $10.50, a daughter of twelve is satisfied with three pairs of $3.00 shoes, and the baby of six kicks out four pairs, which adds $8.00 to the cost of living, making a grand total of $77.50 for shoes for this "Average Man's" family for one year.

First of all he probably bought on credit, and had to pay for the shoes bought by the fellow who has an income of $2,000 a year and spends $3,000. He paid more than was necessary, because he has the "high living fever," and thinks that a $6.00 shoe is better than a $4.00 shoe because it costs more---it costs him more. It is not the high cost of living, but the cost of high living which keeps his nose to the grindstone. The foolish and unnecessary expenditure of money has caused all the trouble.

We Will Underwrite the "Average Man's" Shoe Bill at a Saving of 50 Per Cent

How can we do it? Because we buy and sell for cash, because we buy direct from the largest manufacturers in the South a line of shoes which actually represent more value and wear longer than other shoes. We will sell Mr. "Average Man" a pair of shoes for himself, the "Terry Special," for $4.00 and guarantee that it is the equal of any $6.00 shoe he has ever bought in style, comfort, workmanship and service. This is a broad statement, is it?---Well you can get this guarantee in black and white if you want it.

The "Average Man's" Wife Should Know Better

Why should the "Average Man's" wife pay $4.00 for her shoes and let her daughter pay $5.00, her son $3.50, the younger girl $3.00, and then spend $8.00 for shoes for the baby when we can sell her for herself and daughter shoes at $3.00 and $3.50 per pair, guaranteed to be the equal in style, snap, workmanship and wear to the shoes she has been buying at $4.00 and $5.00 a pair elsewhere. We have a line of boys' shoes made by the Goodyear Welt process of the best materials which we sell for $2.50 a pair. Why should she pay $3.50? Why should the little girl be called on to pay $3.00 a pair and the baby $2.00 a pair when we sell misses' shoes with the style, comfort and wear in them for $2.00, and children's shoes at from $1.00 to $1.50 a pair.

Mrs. "Average Woman" This is Your Chance to Ladies Are Better Shoppers Than Men Because They Are Better Judges of Values

Do you want to spend all of his income on your living? Do you want to have him mortgage your home to keep up appearances? Do you want him to fail in business because of your reckless expenditures? Or do you want to help him by buying where you can get the most for his money?

Every sensible woman likes to get her money's worth, and as the ladies do more shopping than men, they are better posted, and it is for this reason that our prices and the unusual values which we are giving appeal especially to the ladies. There are a few ladies who buy the most expensive articles in all lines, because they think price indicates quality, but the "AVERAGE WOMAN," the woman of intelligence knows values, and will buy a meritorious article at a bargain price quicker than she will buy it at a higher price, and it is for this reason that we want the ladies of this city to call and see us and examine our shoes and prices.

We want the "Average Man's" money and the "Average Woman's" money, and we will give them more for their money than they can get elsewhere, and we hope that you are all of the "show me" kind, and will come in and give us a chance to prove that we can save the "Average Man" and his family $25.00 on a year's supply of shoes---nearly 50 per cent.

FUN OF A DEADLOCK

Some Incidents of the Lighter Side of the Tie-Up in the National House. Washington Correspondence New York American.

One of the funniest rollcalls took place about the time Mann had disappeared. Burgess, of Texas, was asleep in the front room. He didn't answer to his name. A colleague shook him, but Burgess snored on. Finally rubbing his eyes, he roared, "Say, hasn't a fellow a constitutional right to sleep at this hour of the morning?"

As time dragged on, Representative Rucker, of Missouri, craved a smoke, but didn't want to leave the chamber. He pulled from his pocket a properly aged "Missouri pipe" and lighted it.

"The chair must inform all gentlemen that it is against the rules to smoke," said Speaker Pro. Tem. Olmstead severely.

"Can the chair enforce such a rule without a quorum present?" asked Mr. Rucker.

"It can," answered the chair. "Well, I am glad to know there is something that can be done without a quorum," as he choked the pipe with his thumb.

"Is it in order to consider anything Sunday except the church items in this claims bill?" innocently inquired Butler, a Pennsylvania Quaker, after the Sabbath had arrived.

"Not without a quorum," responded Mr. Olmstead, grimly.

Tawney, of Minnesota, and Malby, of New York, who were dragged from the Gridiron dinner, walked in, answered to their names, turned around and walked right out again.

"This bill is a pork barrel, and it smells to Heaven," said Campbell, of Kansas, during the debate.

"It's got a Kansas item in it; that's the reason it smells," came the answer.

Stanley, who had been dreaming of the old Kentucky home, arose and said: "Mr. Speaker, I want to know if the fellow who wrote 'Man's inhumanity to man makes countless thousands mourn' was thinking of Mr. Mann, of Illinois, when he penned those lines." The chair, with becoming dignity, said the inquiry was not privileged. So the time wore on.

This is what Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Ledbetter said on January 22:

"Gentlemen: Last night our daughter, age five years, was taken suddenly with pneumonia. We used 1-2 box of Mother's Joy as directed, and today she is almost well, thanks to the good remedy so near at hand and so cheap. This was a violent case, and hope you succeed. 520 Laura avenue."

Worth Trying.

Ether Toppers.

Ether is consumed by gallons to get drunk on in a small part of Scotland. The origin of this peculiar and limited abuse is strange. In 1848 a bad epidemic of cholera broke out in Glasgow. Among those flying from it were some who came back to Draperstown, their native place. With them they brought a cholera mixture which they found "exceeding comforting." A rascally doctor, knowing that the comfort proceeded from ether, laid in a whole cask. He made his fortune and started the habit that lasts till yet. Ether is sold over counters in Scotland, the penny a drink. An old ether toper can drink two or three ounces a day, but one-half ounce is one big dram in water. The drinker gets hilarious in a minute. It is far wilder and more dangerous than alcohol.

How Tortoise Shell is Worked. The soldering of two pieces of tortoise shell together is effected by means of hot pinchers, which, while they compress, soften the opposed edge of each piece and amalgamate them into one. Even the raspings and powder produced by the file, mixed with small fragments, are put into molds and subjected to the action of boiling water and thus made into plates of the desired thickness or into various articles which appear to have been cut out of a solid block.

Inconsistent.

A man who took his infant daughter to be baptised told the clergyman to call her Venus.

"But I refuse to call her Venus," said the clergyman indignantly. "Venus is the name of a pagan goddess."

"Well, how about your own girl, Diana?" said the man.

Hair Raising.

"Well, has your college daughter decided upon her career?" "Yes; he has blue eyes, brown hair and works in a hardware store."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Carries On.

Wogge—So young Saphead and his father are carrying on the business? Boggs—Yes. The old man does the business, while young Saphead does the carrying on.—Puck.

Cottolene

Deal with the Grocer who sells Cottolene

Cottolene is the original vegetable-oil cooking fat. It is in a class by itself, and imitations approach it only in claims—not in quality.

It has come to our notice that cheap and inferior imitations are being offered the public in some communities as "just as good" as Cottolene. There is no economy in buying such products—even at a few cents less per pail than Cottolene is sold for. And this is why:

These products are of inferior grade, and often made amid questionable surroundings.

Cottolene, being richer, will go one-third farther than any of these products, lard or cooking butter, and a few cent's saving at the start is not a saving in the end, but false economy.

There's but one Cottolene, and we make it. Substitutes are make-believes, and dear at any price. It pays to deal with the grocer who sells Cottolene, because he is most likely to sell the best of everything.

The Famous Rayo

Gives the Best Light at Any Price

When you pay more than the Rayo price for a lamp, you are paying for extra decorations that cannot add to the quality of the light. You can't pay for a better light, because there is none. An oil light has the least effect on the human eye, and the Rayo Lamp is the best oil lamp made, though low in price. You can pay $5, $10, or $20 for some other lamp, and although you get a more costly lamp, you can't get a better light than the white, mellow, diffused, unflickering light of the low-priced Rayo.

Has a strong, durable shade-holder. This season's burner adds to the strength and appearance. Made of solid brass, nickel-plated, and easily polished.

Those Who Go and Come—Happenings of Interest Briefly Told.

Mr. W. C. Boren left last night on a business trip to Madison.

Mr. W. H. Hardin, of Julian, was in the city last night.

Mr. J. B. Sapp, of Winston-Salem, spent last night in the city.

Mr. Jno. D. Pannill, of Reidsville, was in the city yesterday.

Mr. L. C. Carter, of Burlington, is in the city.

Mr. E. M. Forbis, of Charlotte, was in the city on business last night.

Mr. F. F. Russell, of Brooklyn, will speak this evening in the Junior Order Hall.

Mr. Russell is a representative of the International Bible Students' Association. The public is cordially invited.

No admission will be charged and no collection of any sort will be taken.

Mr. Sidney Grimsley has accepted a position at Fordham's drug store.

Mr. E. O. Pleasants was here yesterday from Reidsville where he has charge of a branch of the Townsend Buggy Company.

Mr. W. C. Smith, Jr., has sold out his interest in the Hennessee Cafe to his partner, Mr. J. R. Donnell, and left yesterday morning for New Orleans whence he will go to Oklahoma, probably to locate.

Mr. C. E. Lincoln, draughtsman for the Guilford Lumber Manufacturing Company, is out again after an illness of several weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Miles have returned from a stay in Florida and other Southern states.

Mrs. N. C. Weatherly and Miss Houston left last night for New York to purchase spring millinery.

Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Dalton will leave this morning for New Orleans to attend the Mardi Gras.

Mrs. J. E. Crews, who has been visiting relatives in China Grove, has returned home.

Solicitor Gattis Here.

Solicitor S. M. Gattis arrived in the city last night to get his facts regarding the four murder cases in shape before the convening of criminal court Monday morning.

When asked last night regarding the cases Mr. Gattis stated that he did not know whether all the cases could be disposed of during the week or not, that it altogether depended on the volume of evidence and the argument of the defense in each case.

He will confer with a number of witnesses today so the bills of indictment can be drawn and presented to the grand jury as soon as that body is charged Monday morning.

A Crazy Negro.

A crazy negro from Rockingham county was lodged in Guilford jail yesterday until arrangements can be made for placing him in the state hospital.

The Rockingham jail is being rebuilt and all Rockingham prisoners are being kept here, meantime. The authorities do not mind keeping ordinary prisoners, they state, but managing crazy negroes is another matter.

Death of Young Man.

Mr. Charles L. Dixon died last night at 8 o'clock at his home, 912 West Lee street, following an illness of about a year. He was about 23 years of age and is survived by his wife and a number of relatives. He was a well known young man and was greatly liked by all who knew him. The deceased was a loyal member of Greensboro Council, No. 13, Junior Order.

Death of Infant.

Lelia Coleman, the two year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stevenson Coleman, 27 Vine street, White Oak, died Wednesday afternoon at 5:25 o'clock of pneumonia. The remains were taken yesterday afternoon to Advance, Davie county, for interment at the old home place.

LOCAL G. F. C. ALUMNAE MEET

Enthusiastic Meeting Held In Library Yesterday Afternoon—Mrs. Frank Martin Tells of Plans For Alumnae Day of Commencement.

A largely attended and enthusiastic meeting of the local G. F. C. alumnae was held in the library yesterday afternoon. Mrs. C. H. Ireland, president of the organization, presided. The usual business was transacted and the reports received from the several committees on memorials and endowments. These reports were quite encouraging.

At the conclusion of the business Mrs. Frank Martin, of Winston-Salem, president of the general alumnae association, and a most active worker for the college interests, was introduced. Mrs. Martin talked most entertainingly of the work of the association, outlining some of the plans for the "Alumnae Day" exercises during commencement week. In the past only one meeting of the alumnae has been held, but this year it is proposed to devote all of Tuesday of commencement to the alumnae, having three separate exercises. The plans in detail for alumnae day will be announced soon.

Mrs. Martin also reported, to the delight of the local association, that the next issues of the Christian Advocate and the Raleigh Christian Advocate, the publications of the Methodist Episcopal church in North Carolina, would be known as Greensboro Female College issues, a considerable portion of the space being given in recounting facts regarding the college and the work being done.

Enlarging Their Hotel Property.

Wednesday night at Connelly Springs a meeting of the stockholders of the Connelly Springs Mineral Hotel Company was held for the purpose of discussing the needs of the hostelry. An addition, containing thirty rooms, is being erected in order to accommodate the people who patronize this popular resort. The addition will be completed by May 1 and the hotel will then be able to accommodate 300 guests. In the future the hotel will be open all seasons of the year. Mr. C. M. Vanstory is president of the company and Mr. Henry L. Vanstory is general manager.

Boy Scouts Meet Again Tonight.

The Boy Scouts will meet tonight at 7:30 at the Carnegie library. The general council of business men who are interested in the movement will also be in attendance. Some of the boys of the Bob White patrol will give a demonstration of the work being done by the Scouts.

B. Y. P. U. Meeting.

The Baptist Young People's Union of the First Baptist church will hold a meeting tonight commencing promptly at 8 o'clock. There will be music by Miss May Creech and Misses Maud and Daisy Davis. A large attendance of the members and friends is desired.

Juniors Initiate Five.

At last night's meeting of Greensboro Council, No. 13, Jr. O. U. A. M. five candidates were initiated into the mysteries of the order. There was a large attendance of the members and a number of enthusiastic speeches were made.

Marriage Last Night.

Last night at 10:30 o'clock Justice of the Peace D. H. Collins officiated at the marriage of Mr. Jacob R. Morton and Miss Ola Watson, both of this county. Only a few friends witnessed the ceremony.

Notice K. of P.

A called meeting of Guilford Lodge, No. 69, Knights of Pythias will be held in the hall, Bevil building, this evening at 8 o'clock. Rank of Knight to be conferred. All members are urged to be present.

NOTICE.

The annual meeting of stockholders of the Gate City Building & Loan Association will be held at the secretary's office, No. 105 East Market street, at 5 o'clock p. m., Feb. 28, 1931.
